Coeur d'Alene Symphony Orchestra Celebrates
AMERICA'S 250th BIRTHDAY with ALL-AMERICAN SEASON FINALE

The Coeur d'Alene Symphony Orchestra (CSO) is rolling out the red, white, and blue welcome mat for America's 250th birthday at its Season Finale Concert, "America's 250th", on Saturday, May 9th, 2026, at 3:00 PM at the Midge & Pepper Smock Family Theater at The Kroc Center in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho.

This patriotic celebration marks a triumphant close to the CSO's 2025-2026 "Folk to Fantasy" concert season. The program is a nod to American music, featuring some of the most acclaimed works composed in the United States.

Highlights include Bernstein's renowned Candide Overture, Gershwin's celebrated An American in Paris, and rich American works by Copland, among other gems.

Audiences are also invited to attend a free pre-concert lecture at 2:00 PM, led by Music Director and Conductor Danh Pham. The lecture is included with ticket purchase and offers a wonderful opportunity to deepen your connection to the music before the performance begins.

"This line-up is a celebration of the American spirit. It portrays our diversity and resilience, who we are, and where we came from as a nation. I can't think of a more fitting way to close a season and honor 250 years of American music-making," said Pham.

Tickets are $35 for adults, $25 for seniors (65+), and $15 for students, youth, and veterans/military. Each adult or senior ticket includes one free youth admission. Children ages 5 and under are admitted free. Tickets are general admission and available now at cdasymphony.org or by calling 208-765-3833.

Fishing Magician

Dave Longhine

Reach Dave @ www.FishingMagician.com or FishBoy@nwi.net "The Outdoor Insider"

I had a very fun time fishing this past week. I had a chance to fish for walleye, rainbow trout, brown trout and even caught a nice largemouth bass. I also visited my new boat partner, Mark's Marine in Hayden, Idaho, to talk about some new additions to the Thunder Jet Luxor being built in Clarkston, Washington, and that I will get a chance to see it at the factory.

It was great to get back over to Hayden, Idaho and visit my new boating partner, Mark's Marine. We met earlier this year and did a walk-through of a Thunder Jet Luxor at their dealership, to see the layout of the boat and talk about how it would be outfitted. We went through everything from the Mercury outboard motor package and Minn Kota bow mount electric. The boat would be set up with Garmin electronics, both at the helm and in a special box being built at the stern. It will have Scotty downriggers mounted on the gunnels. At first I was going to pass on the Garmin Live Scope, but after fishing on Drano Lake and seeing that the majority of the boats were using this type of electronics, I decided to add this to the boat, too. Both Aaron Thykeson and John Calder spent a lot of their time with me going over the details of the boat and introducing me to more of their service department and boat rigging people and other employees. Everyone made me feel very welcome at Mark's Marine. We are planning a trip to the Thunder Jet factory later this month. I can't wait!

At the same time I was going over to visit Mark's Marine, my friend James Lebow was going to be fishing at Waitts Lake, which is northwest of Spokane. They invited me to stop by and jump on his boat. I had heard of Waitts Lake and knew it was a great lake to fish for rainbow trout, brown trout, perch and largemouth bass. He and Tyler Berqum had rods already rigged up and we started trolling right after we left the dock in front of his campsite. They found that using gang trolls ahead of a Rooster Tail or crank bait worked pretty good and showed me how the rainbow and brown trout would attack these lures. There were a lot of small rainbow from the spring plant in the lake, but we did get few larger rainbow and brown trout, as well. I wanted to see what the bass fishing was like and brought a couple of rods with my favorite Brush Hog and lizards already attached. One of the first docks that we cast to produced a dandy largemouth. There is a public access launch on the lake, and I would like to try it again. This week's photo is of the bass I got at Waitts Lake.

My good friend Jim Passage has treated me to some exceptional fishing trips over the years. He has taken me to fly fish for steelhead on the Methow River several times, and in recent years to a private lake managed by Darc Knobel at the Desert Fly Angler in Ephrata. Jim still refers to the destination as Isaacs, and many know it as Back to the Wall. There are two lakes here that attract fly anglers. One is managed for large rainbow, which can be difficult to catch. The other has an abundance of rainbow that are smaller. What I mean is that a lucky angler may catch a trout weighing several pounds on the one lake, and on the other one we fished, we caught rainbow to 23 inches. Jim brings his small aluminum boat equipped with an electric motor and we trolled black, Wooly Bugger type flies. We were using 5 weight fly rods and most of the rainbow were in the 15- to 18-inch class, with a few that were two to three inches larger than that. Jim and I always enjoy this time together, along with catching these beautiful trout.

Dennis Beich wanted to give Moses Lake a try for walleye on Thursday. Neither of us had been on the lake yet and we figured it was about time to hit the north end. He recruited a local expert, Mike Lewis, and we ran up there. Typically, the walleye action starts in the shallows up here, and we wanted to get in on that. I had just put my second rod in the holder when it folded over. I had on something big! It turned out to be a whopper carp. That sort of set the stage for the day that was very slow and only interrupted by the occasional bullhead catfish. We trolled from the very top end on down the lake, passing a lot of water that we all had caught walleye in before, but nothing was happening. We finally picked up and ran to the flat above Connelly Park, where we saw a pretty good fleet of boats. We were trolling along here when Mike yelled at me, and I saw my rod loaded up. I set the hook and landed a 19-inch fish. That was the only one we got.

My wife is getting used to a new computer system at her work. That prompted me to talk about the frustrations that people have commented on about the new MyWDFW system through my Facebook page. As you know, this was the last year that people are able to get a paper version of their licenses, permits and catch record cards. She wondered how older residents, that either aren't that good at doing things on the computer or don't even have one, will be able to use it. I responded that they will have to ask their neighbor's children or their grandchildren to help! Kids make things like this look easy. When I was fishing on Drano Lake with Shane Magnuson and Buzz Ramsey, I got a look at how filling out the punch card on a smart phone worked. When Buzz landed a fish he opened the MyWDFW App and figured out how to enter his spring salmon on the Catch Record Card feature. He clicked through the prompts and got it done. I timed how long it took him to complete this and it was close to 60 seconds.

REAL ESTATE
Trends & Advice

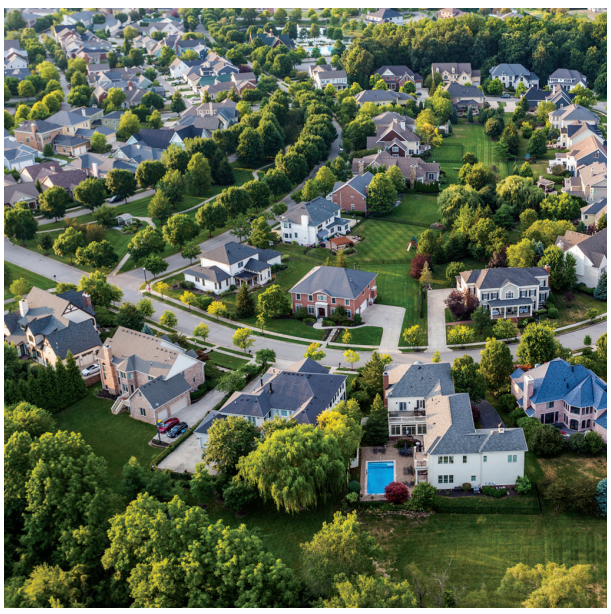
"From Spokane to the Canadian Border"

EXPENSIVE MISTAKES



A few years ago, a property owner became entangled in a legal mess that could have been avoided simply by getting guidance from a professional real estate advisor. They had sold a parcel of land with an owner contract in a "do-it-yourself" deal. After several years, the purchaser began struggling to make payments and then completely stopped sending them. Without seeking legal advice, the seller decided to start the process of taking the property back. They chose the easier and less expensive method by accepting a "deed in lieu of foreclosure," which simply means that the buyer signed the deed back over to the seller to avoid foreclosure on their record.

The problem with this simple legal maneuver was that the seller neglected to have a title search done prior to accepting the property back. Their desire to take the easy route would come back to haunt them. They were completely unaware that the buyer had encumbered the property with hundreds of thousands of dollars in junior liens, something a title search would have uncovered. The more lengthy and costly foreclosure process would have wiped the slate clean, and the seller would have regained the property free of all other encumbrances. This problem went undiscovered until they sold the property years later. During that sale, a title search revealed the troublesome liens. They were forced to pay off this significant liability prior to closing. What an expensive mistake!

In another local case, a couple purchased some acreage from a neighbor in another "do-it-yourself" deal. In this initial transaction, the seller did not create an access easement for the property. Because the buyers lived next door, they did not think they needed one, as they could access it from their adjoining property. About 15 years later, life circumstances changed, and the couple went their separate ways. In the divorce, one spouse was awarded the property, which had no legal access. Now unable to access it from the adjoining property, this owner was left without legal access. The solution was either to sell the property at a discount due to the lack of access and let the new owner deal with the problem, or to pay a neighbor a hefty price for an access easement.

Cutting corners can lead to expensive problems later, which can easily be avoided with some simple precautionary steps. Consult a real estate professional before starting down that road in order to avoid such pitfalls.
